EARTHQUAKE IN NEW ENGLAND.

(Alta)
Boston, July 30th.
A shock of earthquake was felt in Boston this morning.

Portland, Me., July 30th.
The earthquake was sensibly felt here at one o'clock this morning.

Saco, Me., July 30th.
The cities of Saco and Biddeford were greatly well shaken up by an earthquake at one o'clock this morning. The people generally were awakened and alarmed, but no particular damage was done.

Barnesville, Me., July 30th.
A severe shock of earthquake was felt here at one o'clock this morning. Persons awake at that hour say it was the most violent shock they ever experienced.

Portsmouth, N. H., July 30th.
A severe shock of earthquake was felt in this city at one o'clock this morning. Windows and crockery rattled, beds shook, the old plastering in the jail fell, and the night workmen in one of the breweries ran very much frightened.

Concord, N. H., July 30th.
A very heavy shock of earthquake was felt here at 12:55 o'clock this morning, accompanied by a deep, heavy, rumbling noise. It passed from north to south. Buildings were violently rocked, and a church bell rang. Reports from the different parts of the State indicate that it was very general.

New York, July 30th.
Many persons assert that the earthquake which rocked portions of New England at 1 o'clock this morning was also felt in this city, and also in Brooklyn. Professor Thatcher asserts that he predicted it in New York, and that it could easily be shown that it was one of the anticipated results of the great tornado which, commencing in this vicinity, swept over nearly all of the Eastern States on Sunday last.

A remarkable old woman named Mrs. White, is now living in the Marine, North River, and is 103 years old. She recently attended a Yacht Club feast, walking a mile and a half each way. She evidently thinks that she has degenerated. She is reported to have said "she was never at sea in a ship" in her life. There was "not a bit of sea" to drink, and now to see. — News-Mercury.
